

The Ghost

As night fell...

The moon rose...

That's when I lit the candle. I watched the stormy weather and the bright light of the moon through my window.

Then I noticed something.

Something bright... It came closer and closer...

Finally it landed. This thing looked human but pale and transparent. This thing was a girl...But a ghost!

I was so terrified I couldn't even scream! She drifted to our door and went straight through. I went for the blankets and left a tiny hole for to look through.

I heard creaking and a click of my door key. I saw her pale skin and her transparent body.

And then.....

To Be Continued ...

By Elin 4BG